A flower-seed is planted and grows as it absorbs nourishment from its surrounding elements. Emerging from its soil bed the flower raises itself to the sun's warmth gaining maturity . . . the full blossom signifying success.

In pursuing our goal, we are nourished by experience . . . . accomplishment revealed as we mature, facing the tasks which lie before us.

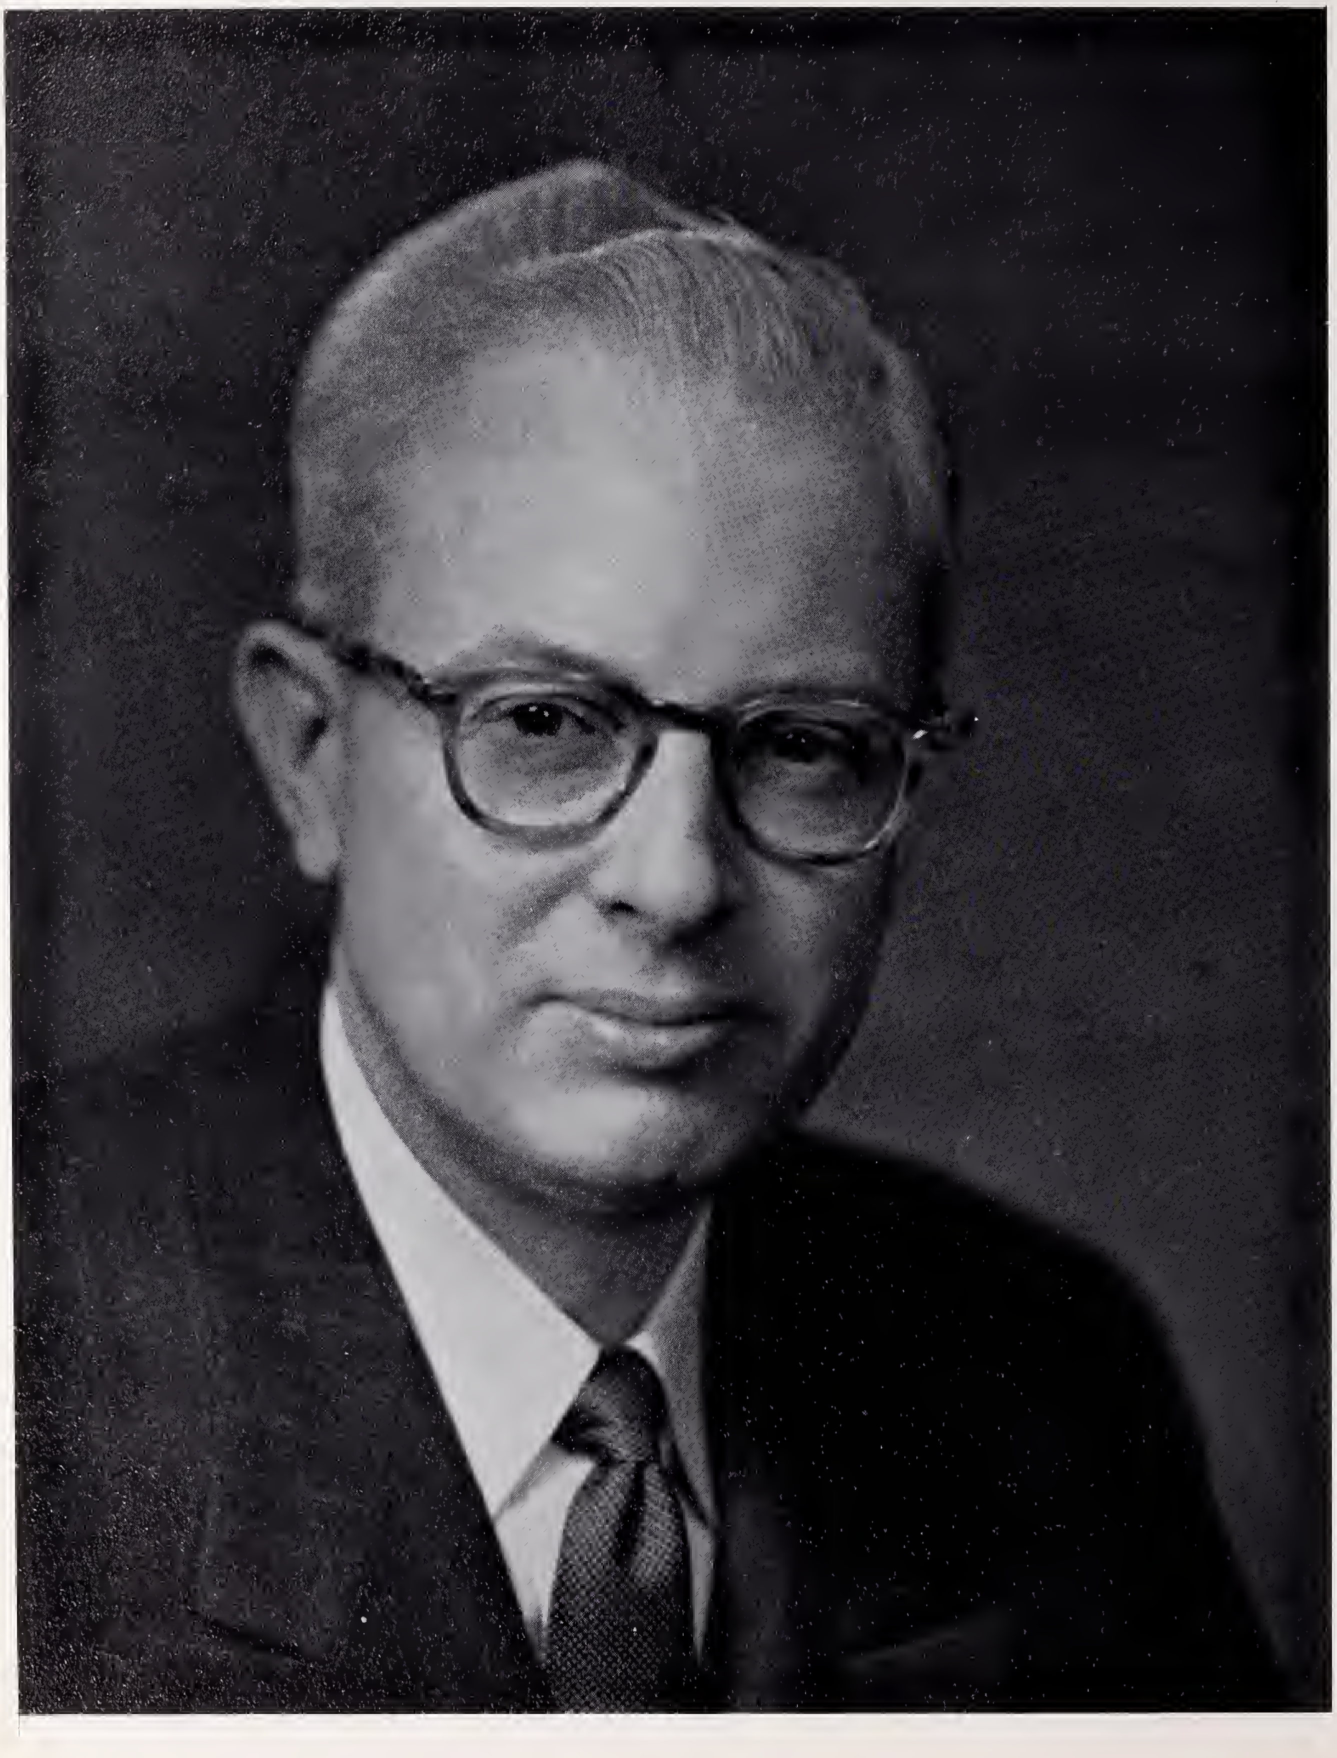
To Mrs. Pauline Galvarro

A glowing figure of unselfish service and kindness . . . a hand outstretched in welcome . . . in her level gaze kindles . . . a light of understanding and sincerity.

With patience unfailing she has opened her heart to all who seek her council . . . concerned with the welfare of each individual . . . giving freely of her time in an endeavor to guide us that we may attain the goals to which we aspire . . .

We are indeed grateful to her for the inspiration and guidance given us.



PRESIDENT OF THE COLLEGE

I have often been reminded of one of my favorite quotations af Sir Francis Bacon, "Knowledge has Power." What potent three words and what a dynamic force is tied up within this quotation. For centuries man has been striving for knowledge and the history of civilization proves to us that there have been periodic "rises" and "falls" of man in his quest for knowledge. History also tells us that great civilizations have developed in various parts of the world where culture and scientific progress seemed to be far advanced. For some dynamic reason the civilization fell and passed into oblivion. For hundreds of years civilization has again been on the way upward.

As a result of our scientific and technological progress man has at his disposal knowledge that a decade ago was unknown. Also tied up within this knowledge is the potency of the "civilized" mind. He knows that the knowledge at his disposal can build for a better civilization if the potent forces are directed toward constructive ends.

Education should help each one of us to channel this force toward constructive goals knowing that through these experiences we not only gain in our own inner security but help to build for a world that profits from what has been learned by others.

A college education is a privilege and should be considered as such. With this privilege comes a challenge to continue to have the potent forces of knowledge directed toward the betterment of mankind.As this desire and determination exists in the minds of men then will the "power of knowledge" lead more quickly towards a goal that all civilization is seeking -- a lasting peace.

K. Richard Johnson, President

FACULTY

The full-blown flower disseminates its seeds, providing for new growth before its work is finished.

Our faculty -- giving freely of their knowledge and understanding - help us, with our initiative, to grow into full bloom.

Your Voiceless lips, O, flowers, are living preachers -- each cup a pulpit, and each leaf a book.

-- Horace Smith

CLASSES

Each petal of a flower contributes to the beauty of the entire bloom, yet each petal is beautiful in itself.

So, too, in our school each class contributes to the welfare of the other, still retaining its own traditions and unity with a beauty consisting of willing service, a spirit of fun and friendly harmony.

Where are the flowers, the fair young flowers,
That lately sprang and stood
In brighter light and softer aire, a beauteous sisterhood?

-- W. C. Bryant

The Senior Class

FIRST ROW: L-R: V. Metzger, vice-president; C. Manz, social chairman, J. Alber, president; M. Schak, treasurer; C. Pride, secretary.

Dayton F. Grafman, Sponsor

"Safe at last in the wide, wide world" are the grand old seniors. Upon completion of our years at National, we step lively in anticipation along the paths we have chosen to follow. Whether or not our paths shall chance to cross in the future, we shall look back with pride upon the unity that bound us together through the years, remembering our spirit and enthusiasm -- "all for one and one for all".

Smiling we shall recall our "Symphony in Snow", the coffee hours and informal parties, the annual class dinner, and of course commencement itself adorned by daisies.

With heads held high, our hearts proud, we face our tasks unafraid, -- success within our grasp.

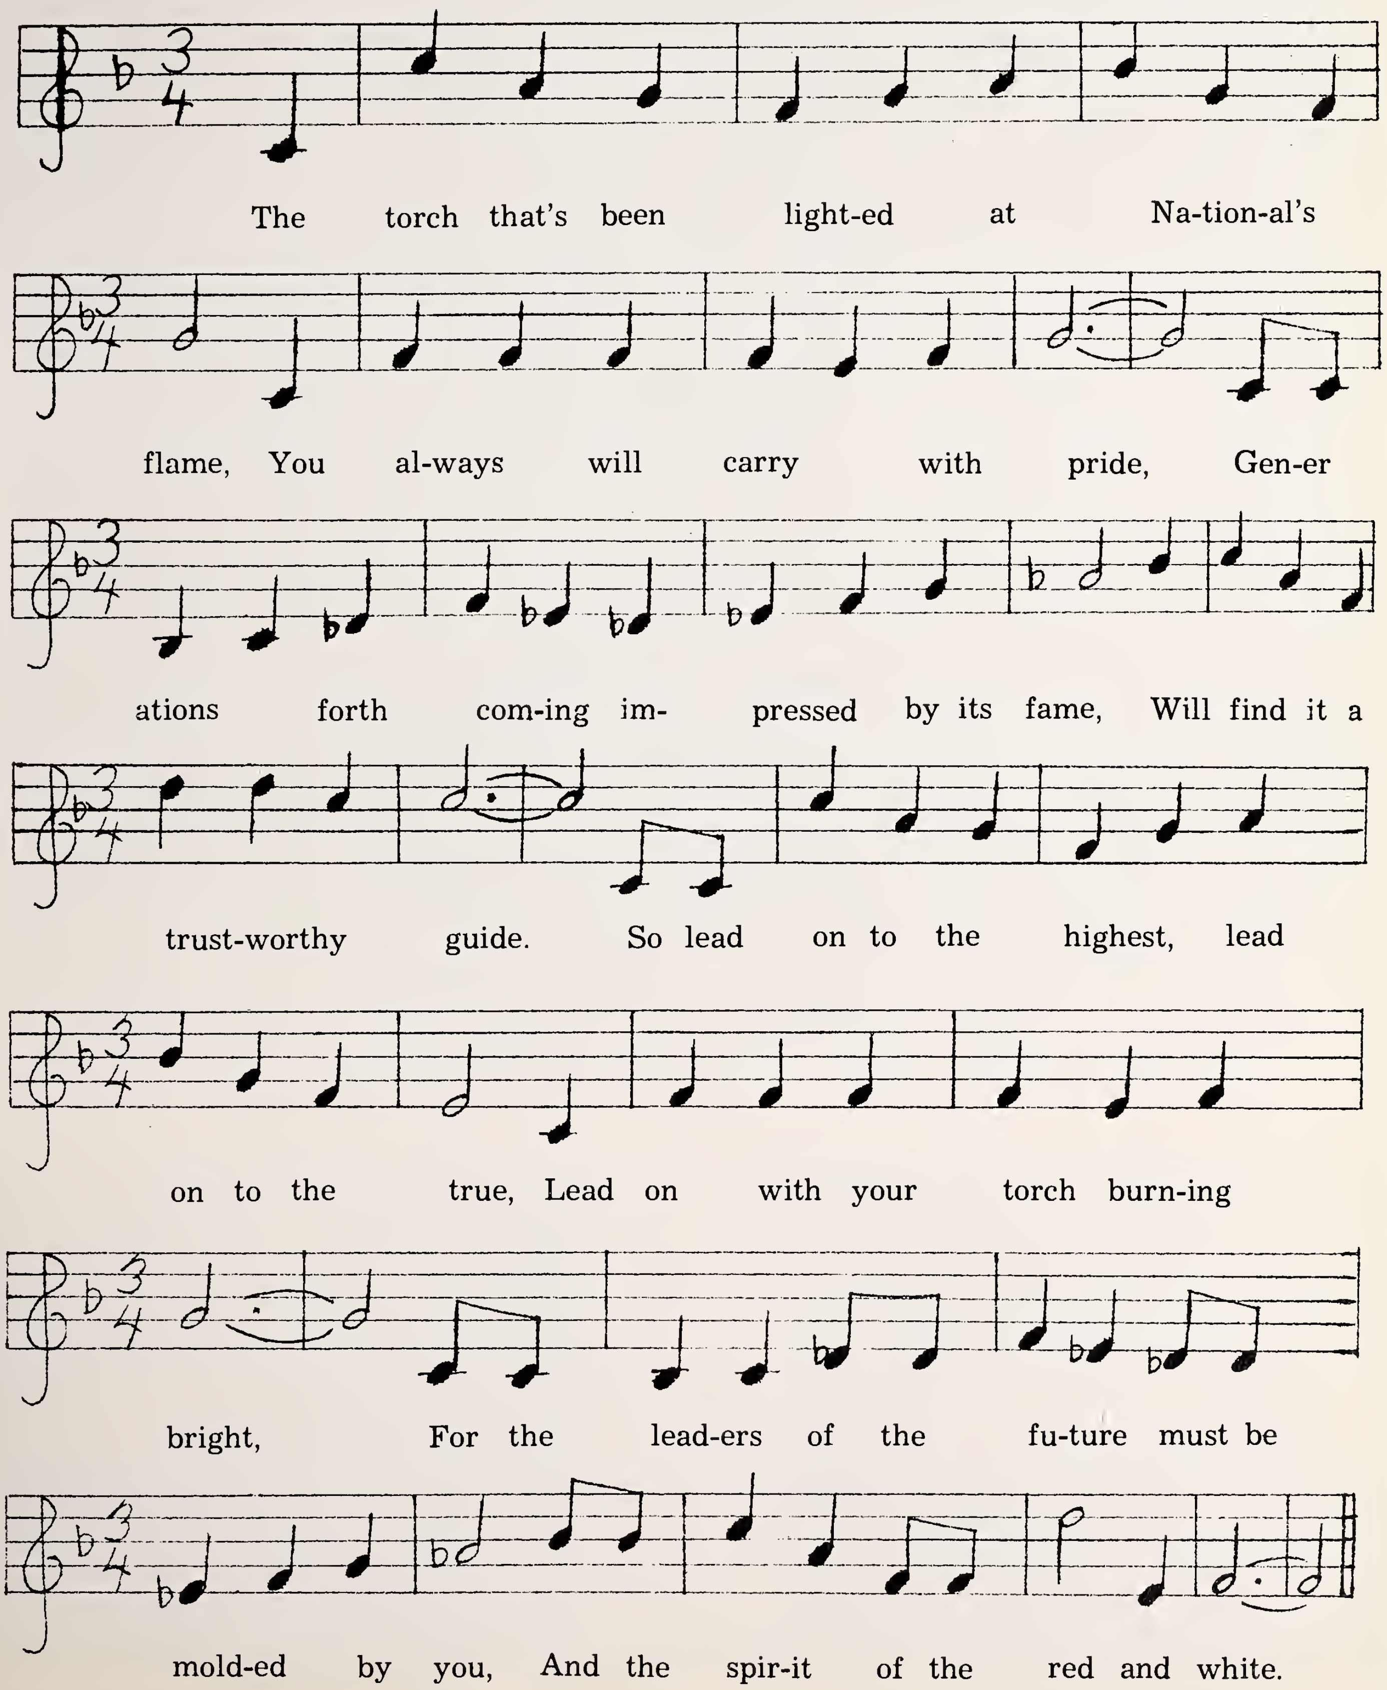
1955 Daisy Chain Song

Music by Dayton Grafman
Words by Sophomores



The torch that's been light-ed at Na-tion-al's flame, You al-ways will carry with pride, Gen-er ations forth com-ing im- pressed by its fame, Will find it a trust-worthy guide. So lead on to the highest, lead on to the true, Lead on with your torch burn-ing bright, For the lead-ers of the fu-ture must be mold-ed by you, And the spir-it of the red and white.

Sophomore Tradition

Symbolic of our colorful college traditions is the carrying of the daisy chain at Commencement. It is at this lovely ceremony that the sophomores are given the opportunity to honor the seniors, - - a memorable adieu to the graduates.

Juniors

As juniors, upperclassmen, we realized that we had important social obligations and responsibilities to fulfill and were determined, at the same time, to have a great deal of fun and to make this a profitable and memorable year.

We launched our objectives in September with a "Howdy" barbeque at the outdoor fireplace and followed through the year with several informal parties and get togethers.

DR. ROBERT F. TOPP

Those who go into elementary teaching become better people as they associate with children. This is a fact that has been long observed by school administrators and confirmed by at least one research study. As one teaches he becomes a more ethical person, he becomes more unselfish, he concerns himself more with the welfare of others.

There is an obvious reason for this, of course. One can not long associate with children, observing their respect and sensing their dependence on one's efforts, without becoming aware of the supreme importance of being a teacher. Very soon the example the young teacher sets for his children is a good example.

All of this accounts in part for the increased interest on the part of elementary school teachers and administrators to complete their Master's Degree. They sincerely wish to keep themselves ready to do the very best they can for the children they serve.

Basic to the purposes for a Master's Degree is the goal of doing better the job of teaching children. And so it is with this in mind that the student's program is tailored to his needs and aspirations as he works toward the degree.

Here is a liberal arts graduate with a broad general education.His program at N. C. E. will be largely professional. It will include student teaching and there will be observation, methods courses, child psychology courses, and this is the way it should be if he is to become a capable teacher.

Here is an experienced teacher with a Bachelor's in elementary education, he will find himself taking some courses in art, social science, psychology, that will not be aimed only at teaching but will be designed to give him breadth as a cultured citizen and teacher; he will also be encouraged to take courses that will carry him further in the science of education, courses like "Teaching the Exceptional Child", or "Educational Therapy in Reading". This too is the way it should be if he is to become a better teacher

Thus as our efforts toward earning the Bachelor of Education Degree are directed toward becoming a good teacher, so are our efforts in earning the Master of Education Degree directed toward becoming a better teacher. And by our efforts our children,and through them, society, shall benefit.

CLUBS

When a carnation grows it must unfold its petals to the sunlight and God's world in order to gain notice and recognition.

Our clubs provide an opportunity for the future teacher to display his knowledge and capabilities, thereby bringing to light his inner potentialities!

To analyze the charms of flowers is like dissecting music; it is one of those things which it is far better to enjoy, than to attempt to fully understand.

EDUCATION

"Education does not commence with the alphabet; it begins with a mother's look, with a father's nod of approbation or sign of reproof; with a sister's gentle pressure of the hand, or a brother's noble act of forbearance; with handfuls of flowers in green dells, on hills, or in daisy meadows .... and with thoughts directed in sweet and kindly tones and words to nature, to beauty, to acts of benevolence, to deeds of virtue, and to the source of all good --- to God Himself"!

Scholarships

Through gifts and funds presented by friends and alumnae of the college, scholarships are awarded on the basis of scholastic achievements and student-teaching ability to deserving members of the junior and senior classes. Such an award is, indeed, an honor of which the recipients and their friends are certainly proud.

Student Teaching

Freshman Year

As freshmen we are introduced to the study of current practices and problems in elementary schools and to the analysis of child growth and development through our education courses.

A guided program of observation and participation in the Children's School of the college affords us an insight into the practices and applications of principles derived through our studies.

Sophomore Year

A unique feature of our school curriculum is an initial student-teaching experience offered in the second semester of the sophomore year. Building upon the courses completed the previous year, our preparation for teaching is furthered through additional study in the fields of human growth and development, language arts, children's literature and social studies in the elementary school. These courses broaden our scope of the child's interests. Thus, through our teaching experience, we work cooperatively with the child in channeling his energies in the direction of constructive attitudes toward learning and life itself.

Junior Year

To extend the Students' acquaintance with the total school and its program is the main purpose of a September Field Experience. At this time the prospective teacher takes active part in planning days, classroom preparation and building conferences, which promote a clearer understanding of the particular school's policies. In conjunction with this eighteen week teaching period, the student is familiarized with the methods of teaching music and arithmetic and is alerted to the possibilities of speech deficiencies and to the means of their correction.

The year's enriching and varied program completes the students' required terms of practice teaching.

Senior Year

In keeping with the school's specialized curriculum, seniors are provided with the opportunity for a full-time teaching experience. Independent of college classes, they are enabled to concentrate their time and efforts on all activities involved in the school system of which they are a part.

Aside from the emphasis placed upon education courses and practice teaching is the school's realization of the teacher's need for a varied and challenging liberal arts program, by which one becomes an alert and well-versed individual ..... thereby fulfilling the objectives of the college.

SOCIAL

The red carnation, symbol of our school, is beautiful because of its rich color.

We, the students, want color in our lives, as well as in our flower. The social activities, by providing new experience and friendship, give that color and richness to our lives.

ACTIVITIES

As all parts of a flower contribute to its beautiful appearance, so all members of a group strive to cooperate for the ultimate good of each other.

A garden is a blend of color and loveliness; our lives blend as we work and play, combining to provide a spectroscope of colorful harmony for all the world to view.

"When men are rightly occupied their amusement grows out of their work as the colorful petals out of a fruitful flower."

Student Notes

College

The representative governing body of the school serves NCE in all phases of its activities. Its members, the presidents and vice-presidents of classes and all organization presidents, work diligently to establish and preserve unity among students, as well as between the students and faculty.

One of the most important accomplishments of the past year was the adoption of the petition system for the selection of candidates for the offices of Council president and vice-president.

Council

The elections for these offices are held in March of every year. This provides for some of the most exciting moments of the year. Council secretary and treasurer are elected in September.

Officers for 1956-57 were Natalie McIntyre, president; Arlene DeGraff, vice-president; Vanessa Metzger, secretary; Sally Robertson, treasurer.

T. A. Officers

Since its inception thirty-nine years ago, the Town Association has been dedicated to the task of forming an instrument by which commuting students may more easily intermix with one another, particular attention given to new students.

The Christmas Dinner, Mother-Student Luncheon, Father-Student Dinner, and the pizza and skating parties immeasurably helped the association attain its goal.

Cooperative participation in the Hoot Nanny Skits, Santa Cellar Sale, and other school-wide functions demonstrated that our members are vitally concerned with altruism.

FIRST ROW: L-R: A. Cone, treasurer; T. Geisert, secretary; J. Jenkins, president; B. Daniell, social chairman; M. Loftus, assistant social chairman; Mrs. Sena Bovbjerg, head of Marienthal; SECOND ROW: (standing) T. Eggers, vice-president.

D. G. A. Officers

Dorm life has served to enrich our college experience in many ways. With fond memories, we shall recall the happy times shared here at Marienthal Hall.

Living together under the same roof as neighbors, has without a doubt, contributed to our sense of responsibility. The sharing of those events which arises through cooperative living, shall long be remembered, -- hall meetings, pajama parties, fire drills, and engagement ceremonies will live in our memories.

Hoot Nanny night in the fall marked the year's first social event. This was soon followed by the Thanksgiving dinner, -- then Christmas, with the spirit of the holly and the ivy prevailing. January of this year marked the installation of a refrigerator for everyone's use, -- a feature designed for those who enjoy between -meal snacks!

Yes, the voices of those friends with whom we passed many a pleasant moment shall long echo in our ears.

The May Queen and Court

In keeping with time-honored and much anticipated annual school tradition, May Festival dramatically culminated another year's activities. Over one hundred twenty-five students combined their time and efforts toward the gala event. The coming of Festival brought into the spotlight the talents of dancers, singers, writers, actresses and actors. And from their willingness to produce evolved the material for a fine show. Under the direction of Mr. Hobbs. Mrs. Duffy, Miss Rush, Mr. Cousins, and Mr. Kuennen, a student committee wrote a praiseworthy show.

Providing an air of excitement and enthusiasm were the events preceding the performance: Freshman-sponsored Parents' Day; the flower cart managed by the Senior Class; fudge sold by the sophomores; and punch provided by the juniors.

Life in a teachers' college was cleverly portrayed in this year's production, "From This Moment On." Climaxing the evening's spectacular was the traditional crowning of the May Queen, whose court was composed of eight girls chosen by the Senior Class. The queen was elected by the entire student body and her floral crown was a gift of the Junior Class. As voices chorused to the strains of the school song, the curtain fell, bringing to a close one of the year's most memorable festivities.
